Immune/Digestive Aid – Especially Great for Young Pets

To help your young pet get over acute symptoms fast, try ParvoNix™ by Cedar Bear Naturales™. This unique formula supports the digestive system as it strengthens the immune system, reduces inflammation, helps cool fevers, and helps clear congestion in the respiratory system.

The immune system is the body's complex defense system that works to protect against illness and disease. Pet's ParvoNix™ is an immune system builder and enhancer and digestive aid that nutritionally supports and stimulates resistance to acute health imbalances with mild and sustained immune stimulating properties and antiseptic action. Pet's ParvoNix™ is helpful when respiratory and digestive-related immune responses need strengthening and may be helpful if taken when an immune challenge is suspected or imminent, before symptoms have a chance to take hold.

The herbs in this formula were specifically chosen for their action on the digestive, respiratory, and immune systems of the body and to help stimulate white blood cells, T-cells and killer cells, and to increase and strengthen the body's inherent powers of resistance to invasive incursions.
