Build a Healthy Digestive System and Immune System From the Inside Out

These days, most of us have some form of problems with our digestive system. Advertisements for medicines to help uptight tummies for people of all ages: anti-acids, acid reflux medicines, pain relievers... flood television channels and magazines. Drug stores have large shelves for stomach remedies of all shapes, colors and flavors. Americans constantly pop something or other for their stomachs. These stomach problems not only continue, but get worse over time.

Our digestive systems are the foundation of our health. If the digestive system is compromised, then many regular body functions, such as the way the immune system works, become compromised. A strong digestive system supports a healthy immune system.

The digestive system can be damaged in many ways. Imbalances of the natural flora of the stomach and colon can be caused when antibiotics kill off good bacteria, when too many sugary foods and drinks are consumed, by viral infections, and even chronic stress.

Digestive enzyme activity and normal stomach acids can become reduced so foods don't digest properly. Food allergies and many forms of autoimmune conditions can then arise.

Digestive Build™ by Cedar Bear Naturales® stimulates the digestive juices and help build digestive tract integrity, actions that benefit both the digestion of foods and effective, sustained immune responses.

This formula has a mild blood-purifying cleansing action that is extremely gentle on the liver. Digestive Build™ can be used for "spring cleaning" the digestive system, or as part of a weight loss program. It may also be used for sluggish or congested digestive systems.

SUGGESTED USE: 1/3–1/2 teaspoon (2–2.46 ml) 1 to 3 times daily, before meals, or as needed.
